Letter of Recommendation – Sustainable Sourcing of Coffee for French Revolution

To whom it may concern,

We, Origo Coffee Roastery (Bucharest, Romania), hereby confirm our role as specialty green coffee sourcing and roasting partner for French Revolution.

Our sourcing philosophy is based on sustainability, transparency, and fair value distribution across the coffee supply chain. For French Revolution, we have selected specialty coffee lots with full traceability and proven sustainable practices:

- El Obraje, Nariño, Colombia – a farm recognized internationally for sustainable agricultural methods, biodiversity protection, and high-quality coffee production, awarded in Cup of Excellence competitions.
- Ethiopia, Organic Agriculture Regions – smallholder farmers cultivating coffee in traditional, pesticide-free agroforestry systems.

We paid at least 50% above the commodity market price, with the premium value going directly to the producers, supporting their livelihood, community development, and environmental protection.

Based on our direct involvement and long-term relationships with these farms, we can confidently state that the specialty coffees supplied to French Revolution meet the sustainability standards required for a B Corp company:

- Environmental sustainability – organic and biodiversity-friendly farming practices.
- Social sustainability – fair payment and community impact.
- Economic sustainability – long-term partnerships and premium prices above the commodity market.

We fully endorse French Revolution's commitment to sustainability and believe their coffee sourcing practices, through our collaboration, are aligned with B Corp certification principles.

Sincerely,

Mihai Panfil
